The word “otherwhere” brings the imagination to the wide spaces (physical and mental). The first flash was Bird watching as the ritual with lot of respect for the other essence. Here started the Architecture watching concept.

Watch through yourself - out of yourself - otherwhere yourself - places and realities. The ability to understand the other circumstances from the own point of view. The wide idea, but the object had to be primitive and a bit with some of humour sense.

...So the telescopic tube for the architecture watching elsewhere was created...
